

[Title of Document] Abstract

[Abstract]

[Task] When a portable information ratio terminal device receives impact (external force) due to falling down or the like, electrical connection of an electronic part mounted on
5 a substrate in the device body is held.

[Solution] The portable information terminal device includes the device body 1H consisted of mutually combined first and second casings 3 and 4, a printed board 2 provided in the device
10 body and mounting an electronic part 6 and an elastic body 6 supporting the printed board on the device body. The elastic body is provided between the printed board and the first casing and between the printed board and the second casing.

[Selected Drawing] Fig. 1(a)